Siemens was awarded a contract for equipping Stuttgart's tramways with state-of-the-art signaling and control systems. Stuttgarter Straßenbahnen AG (SSB) is one of Germany's largest transport companies and effectively combines the driving-on-sight and driving-with-ATP solutions.

Project scope
- Trainguard MT Zub 222c automatic train control system
- Trackguard Sicas electronic interlocking
- Controlguide Vicos OC 111 operations control system
- K400 compact signals
- Switchguard S 700 point machines
- Line length: 231 km
- Headway: 2 to 10 min.

Commissioning date
1990 until 2015